LEGEND X

Denise

Well, well, my, my, hasn't this been a looong year! It was really great knowing you, and I Know the feeling is mutual but not in meeting my mom! Ulu! I hope you have a fantastic and hot (and that goes both ways) summer. You're a really sweet person, (if you wouldn't get sick so much) and if you stay that way you'll succeed in life!

Well, Take Care!

Love, Peace, & Happiness

your friend forever

(the great!)

It's Been Ten Years

Since the double-doors of a then-new high school admitted curious students who had no idea of what was coming at them.

And coming at them it did.

Within ten short years, the tradition of male A.S.B. presidents has been broken twice, this year with Stephanie Young (top left, with David Sullivan), and Kim McManus (top center, with company) in 1971.

Dress code bonds have been broken, and the typical appearance of a typical Kennedy High student of a few years ago (bottom right) would be considered very out of style today, because students are a little more liberal-minded about the way they dress. Take Kevin Glass (top right), a "typical" Kennedy High student in one of today's more casual styles.

Melissa Adopted

Last year Representative Assembly "adopted", through the Save the Children Federation, five-year-old Melissa Dean Horton. "Missy" and her family (sister Melanie, parents Janet and Charlie) live in a five-room mobile home in Bruin, Kentucky that has running water from a nearby well and in winter is heated by gas. The family's annual income is very low.

Through ad group donations, Representative Assembly has been able to support Melissa, and for her fifth birthday a tape recorder for "talking letters" was purchased and sent to her.

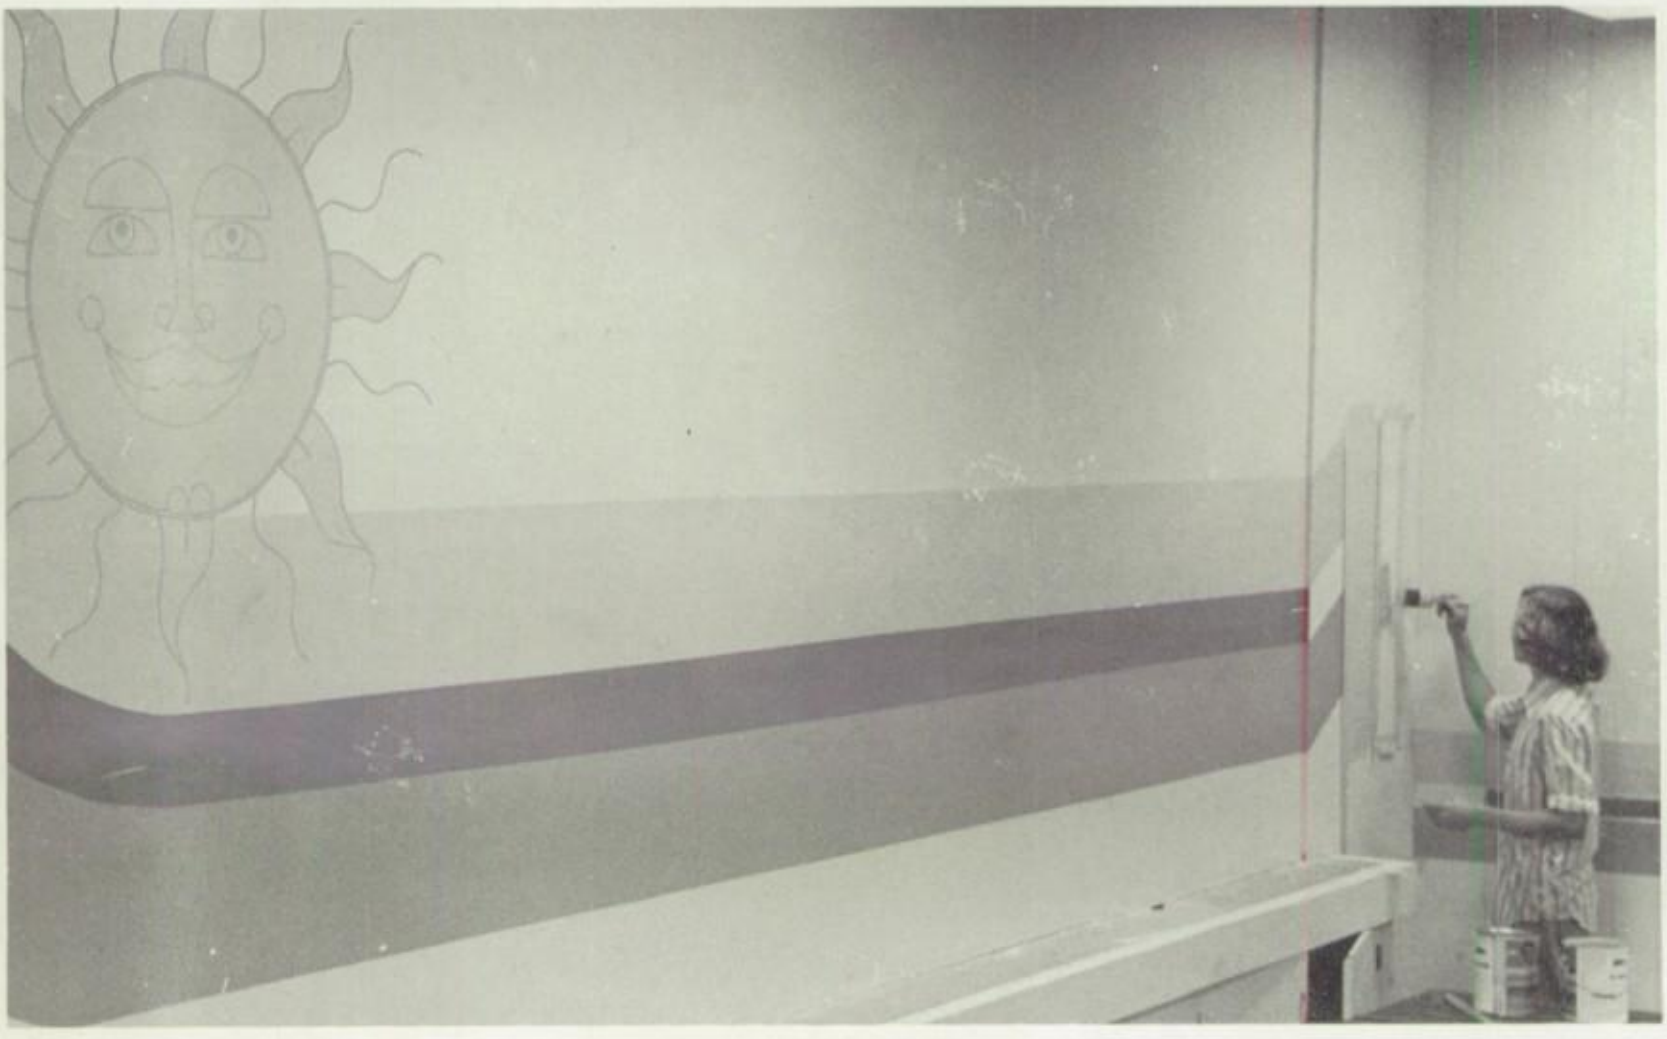
Lunchroom Painters Improve Environment; Peer Counselors Help Others



When you've got a personal problem you just have to tell someone, the members of JFK's Peer Counseling Group will open their ears to you. They help people of any age solve their own problems. Coming from twelve-week seminars, these people will choose individuals with personal problems, and, after parent consent, they will help them out. One example is Kathy Enriquez, who is counseling a junior high student. The seventh - grader's mother had passed away, and she sat in her classes, closed in to herself. Kathy is acting almost as a second "mother" to her. The work Kathy and her partners do is voluntary, and they take special enjoyment in listening and rapping with people.

Spirit Week

When it came to spirit week the sophomores mobbed it all year, with the senior hicks, the freshman urchins, and the storybook juniors behind them. At spirit week's end it was Marie Agustin who shone the brightest as she was crowned homecoming queen 1974-75. Spirit never really died, as some thought it would. It's always been here.

Happenings

and for other people has remained, fortunately, constant. In the school's ten year history, J.F.K. students held an air pollution protest in front of the school to try to encourage people not to drive cars, and they were in San Francisco to clean off the birds trapped in the Pacific Coast oil spill. However, we still have the vandals, the graffiti artists, the name engravers, and bathroom-tabloid gossip columnists.

Although we can't isolate and do anything about the wall-writers, we can do plenty about the school's environmental appearance and atmosphere. This year a club has been formed to improve the way the campus looks, to change the "sterile" feeling. This, along with the annual Campus Clean-Up Day, is one of the ways students can sweep others' destructive forces into the can.

The past—You're on schoolgrounds, and you need a place or a group to hang around with. You could go around with the hair-ratted, leather jacketed, booted "Votos." If you weren't that, you could stick around with the "Surfer" types, complete with Pendletons, tennis shoes, surfer shirts, pompadour hairdos (or even no hair at all), and Beach Boy records. But you can't do that now. Today it is the Southlawners, the Jocks, the Rah-Rahs, the Drama and Music People, all "bad" (meaning super-good) groups. And if you don't like to hang around with THOSE groups, you could try to start one of your own. Just as long as you don't hang around "burnt" or "wasted" people. That can be a real "bummer." Good luck. If you could hang around with the Vots or Surfers years ago, that was really "neato."

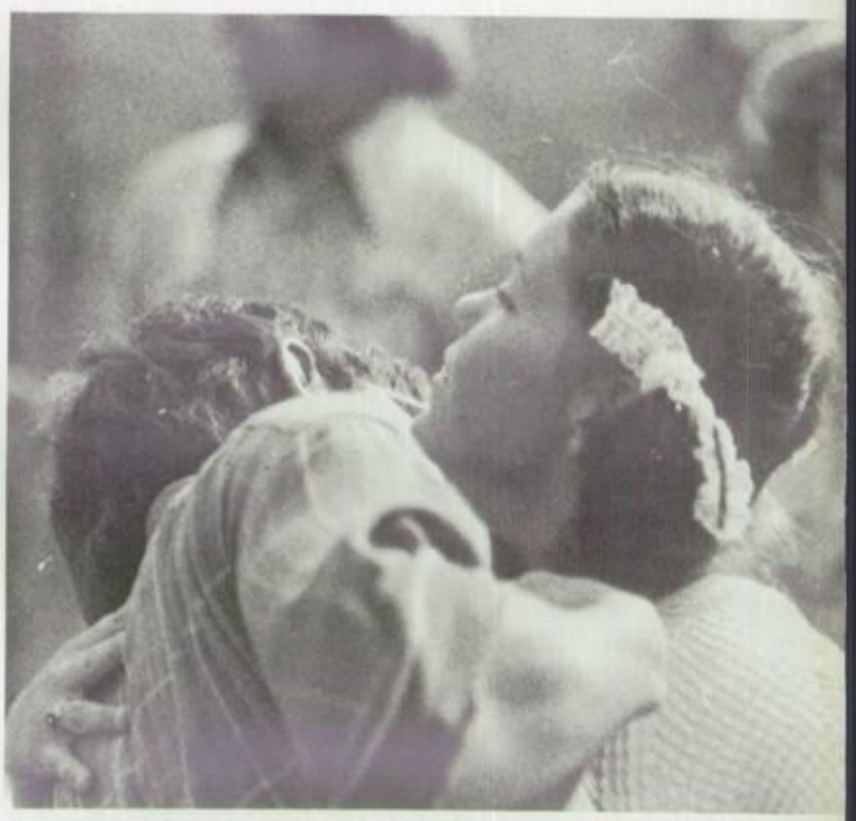
Sophomores Make Us an Offer We Can't Refuse

Sophomore spirit day started off with a bang. Card games, a kissing booth, chases, a tough warning to A.P. Daryl Talken, Charleston dancing, Charlie Chaplin, and the robbery of the library shocked and terrified us all.

Square Dancin' Hillbilly Seniors Whoop n' Holler for Spirit Week

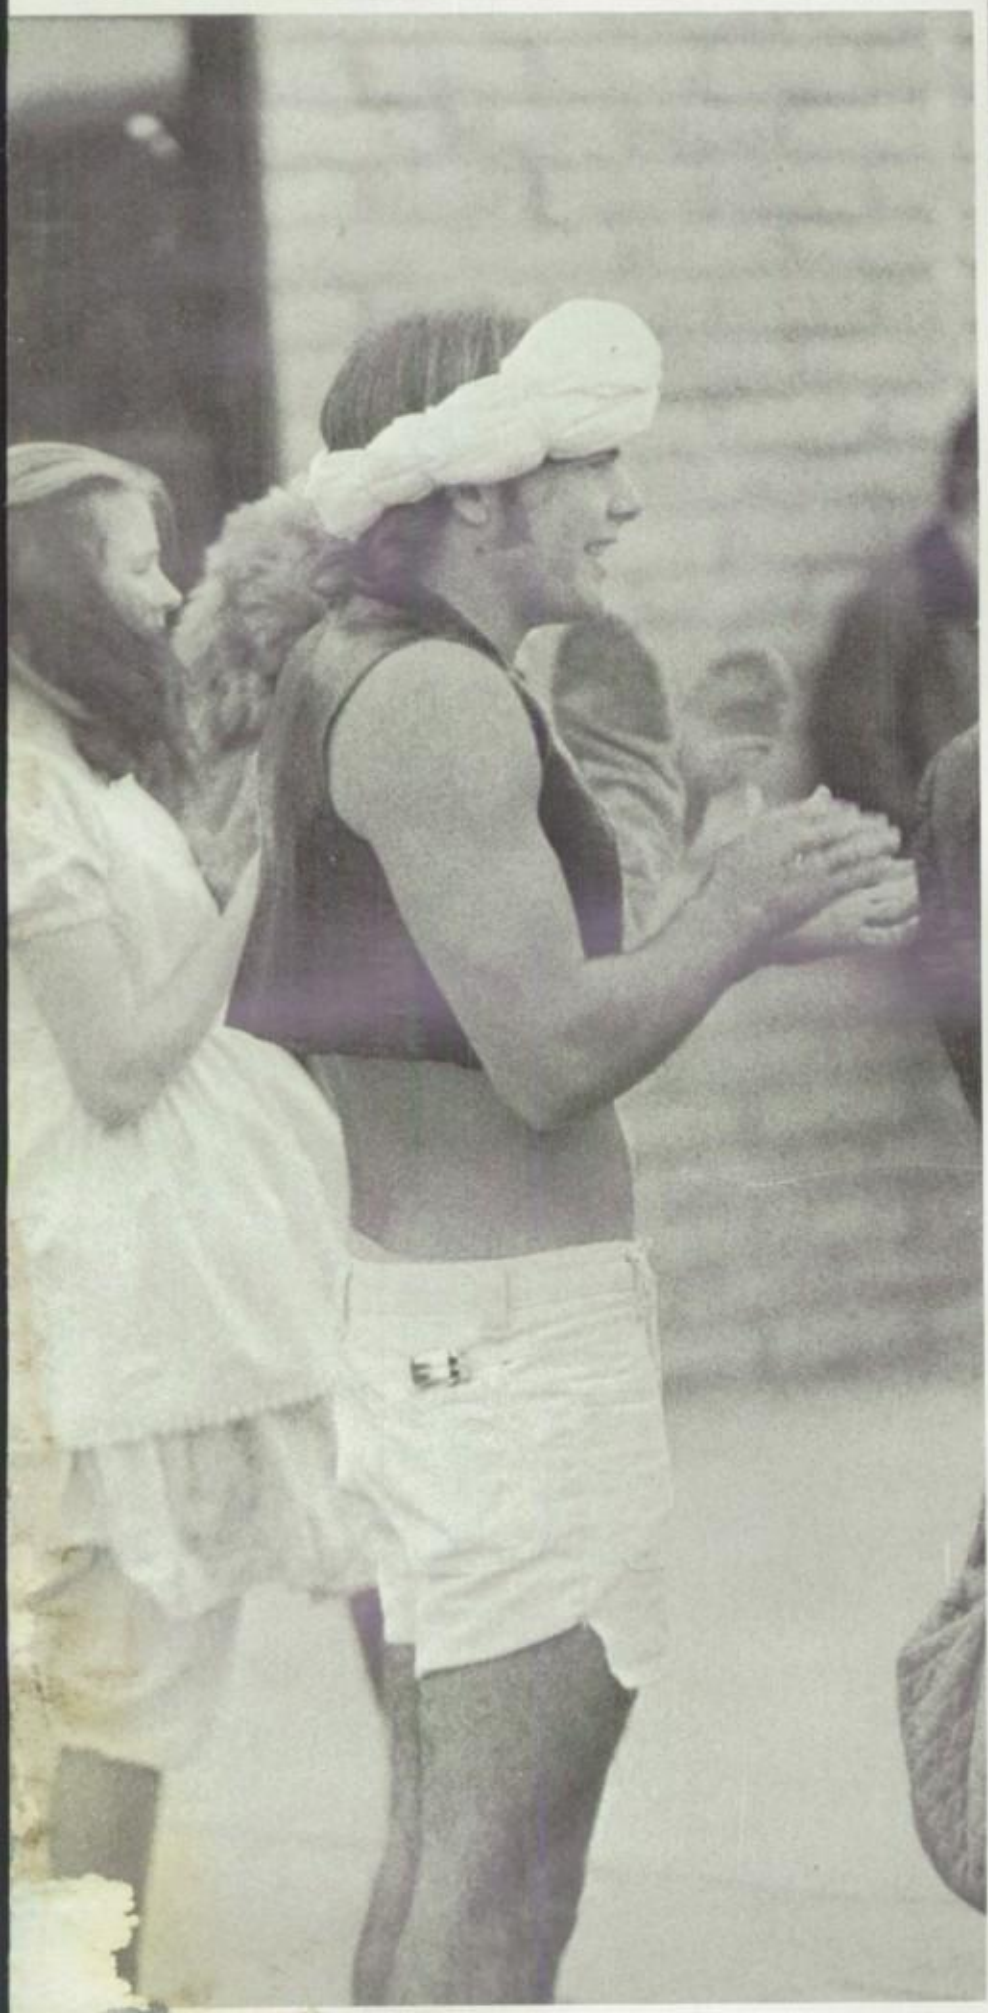
A pie eating contest. A tug of war. Country fair with bobbing for apples. Pick a partner and square dance. Come and sing with us in the quad. The time has come; we are finished. We gave it our best.

We know now, it is our last.



'Fantasyland' Shows Juniors' True Personalities

Our theme is fairy tales. Today we are in the land of make believe. Humpty Dumpty sitting on a wall. Peter Pan flying overhead. The gingerbread house is here. I am Cinderella. Now our day is cut short by rain, but we know it won't stop us. I try to do a lot, which will help us win. If we don't make it this year-we save our best for last.



Freshmen Remember the Way They Were

Wish I could get out of class to play in the quad-hopscotch; ring-around-the-rosy; duck, duck, goose; all those good old games. We're dressed in our jammies and baby clothes. My doll and stuffed bear are sitting on the seat in front of me-maybe they'll know the answers to this test.

Open House October 16

Open House was different this year. Emphasis was shifted away from teacher-parent conferences and toward giving parents a complete picture of the school and its opportunities for students. Faculty speakers explained the school's program in the area of college preparation classes, general studies, and vocational classes. Teachers, parents and students enjoyed coffee and baked goodies as well as a musical performance in the library after the program.

One thin tree. A mound. And two men, Vladimir (Marc Archer) and Estragon (Lee Gerber). The men seem to await someone else's presence, someone by the name of Godot. "Nothing to be done," they say as they wait.

And into the scene fall two others: Pozzo (Bob Albers) and his "menial" Lucky (Rick Jones), both of whom are just as outcast from uniformity as Vladimir and Estragon. During the course of Pozzo and Lucky's presence, Vladimir and Estragon watch in fascination and horror as Pozzo abuses his servant ("What do you expect? It's not his job."), eventually commanding Lucky to dance and finally think. Aloud. ("He even used to think very prettily . . . once. I could listen to him for hours. Now it's . . .")

Pozzo bids "adieu" to Vladimir and Estragon and he and Lucky leave. A moment later a boy (Brad Adams) announces that Mr. Godot "won't come this evening but surely tomorrow."

Again the two men are alone. "Nothing to be done," they say as they wait. Finally Vladimir says, "Well? Shall we go?"

Says Estragon, "Yes, let's go." But they do not move.

"Waiting for Godot", "far-out" as it appeared on stage, won high acclaim from the ARGUS drama critic and its audiences for the "professional" quality of acting. Enough for adults to comment, "Are these high school students?" . . . . . Doug Engalla

"Private Lives" is a three act play written by Noel Coward and directed by Miss Jean Robinson. The story takes place in Deauville, France and involves an American couple who have divorced because of too many rows and have remarried and are on honeymoons with their new spouses. But, in the same hotel, they can't help but meet and when they do they can't help but runn off together, leaving their confused and bewildered spouses to find nothing but a note and each other. Amanda Prince and Elyot Chase, the original couple, (portrayed by Bree Hummel and Larry Ensoe) live happily in her flat in Paris until nature takes its course and their bickering, which led to the break-up of their first marriage, now leads to a rip-roaring fight where they both end up on the floor. Enter Sybil Chase and Victor Prine (portrayed by Marianne Garberick and Brian O'dell) as Amanda and Elyot run into opposite bedrooms. The next day, they all sit down for a lovely chat when Sybil and Victor end up arguing over whose fault it was as Amanda and Elyot walk out quietly. Kelly Haustviet brightens up the play with her French accent as Louise, the maid.

"Clarley's Aunt" is a three act comedy by Brandon Thomas, directed by Jean Robinson.

Jack and Charley are madly in love with their charming girlfriends, Kitty and Amy. The girls are leaving and the boys want to propose before they go. They can't get the girls to come over without a chaperone and Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia D'alvadorez, can't come. So they get Lord Fancourt Babberly, an actor and friend, to impersonate her. No one has seen the aunt before so everyone is fooled, except the real Donna Lucia, who comes after all. She finds someone in her place so she decides to play along.

The girls must get their uncle Spettgue's consent for marriage so they can wed without losing all their money, for Spettigue is their legal guardian. They talk the fake Donna Lucia into getting the consent for them. Babberly has to promise marriage to do it so he does. While Spettigue is writing his letter of consent, Babberly finds an old love, Ela Delahay, the young orphan traveling with Donna Lucia.

The climax comes when Babberly is once again Babberly and is asked who he is by Spettigue. "I'm Donna Lucia D'alvadorez from Brazil where the nuts come from." Oops! But it's too late. Spettigue is in a rage and the real Donna Luciz steps forth. In the end, everyone is happy and Lord Babberly leaves, to Sir Frances Chesney. All claims to Charley's Aunt.

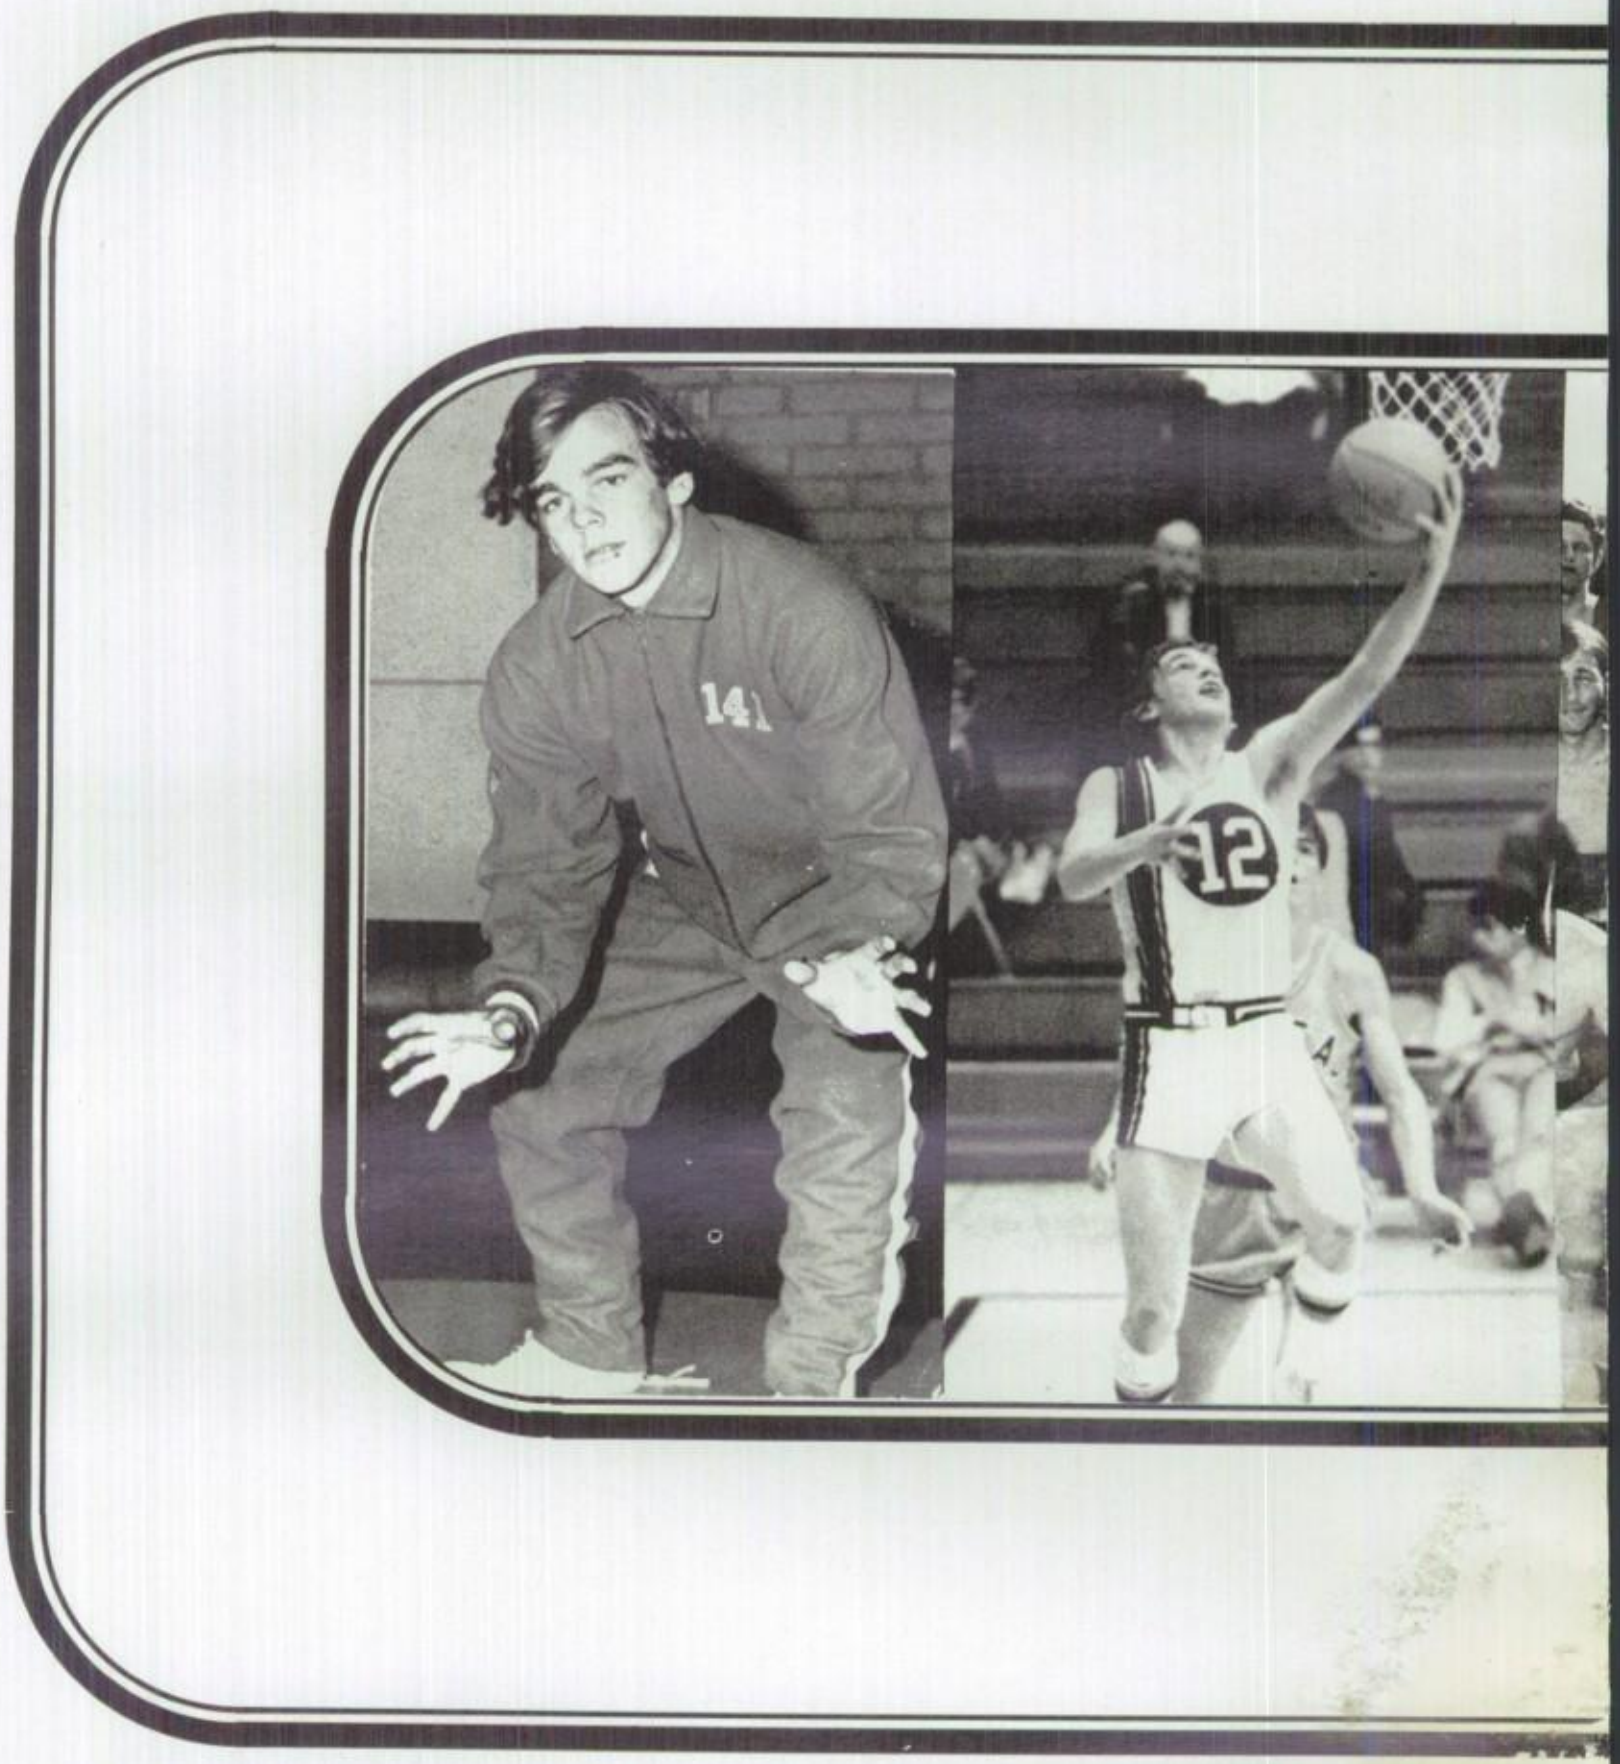
Sports

The past—1966 was the first year for our football team. They didn't seem like much, but they gave it all they could. Two outstanding names to be remembered—John Eaves and Pete Nelson—maybe forgotten faces, but remembered talents. 1967 was a better year for basketball than 1966 with the C team winning all-league honors with the help of Art Alfaro. Wrestling had a standout captain, Rudy Teodosio, league champion going undefeated. 1968 had many standouts in all



Stan Smocynski and Liburdi made all-league football. A young cross-country team finished fourth. Wrestling had Kent and Craig Kirkland heading the lightweight list. In baseball Titans clinched first with the help of Don Cross. It was the first year for our swim team. In 1972 varsity football had their best season ever by finishing second in the league, with Captain Tim Sullivan helping to make it happen. Cross country t... out well with the frosh-soph team winners of the M' .A' championship and N.C.S. 1 and 2. sports: Dave Dunlap as a baseball catcher; Rich Patton, all-league tennis champion; Dan Galvan, football center; all-league choice Art Alfaro in basketball; and all-league soccer player Dan Paton, (coached by Daryl Talken). Kennedy's C basketball team had the most winning season ever. 1969 kind of went downhill in sports. The only standout was Greg Maestas, East Bay Prep Writers' "Prep of the week" in soccer. 1970 started off right. In football the Titans made history with a 5-4 season, with leading rusher John Liburdi to help. Varsity basketball took second, varsity soccer took third in the Northern California tourney at Cubberly, and frosh-soph soccer, winners of the M.V.A.L. went undefeated. In 1971, lulty taking "Back of the Year" and Garth Jaehnig Lineman of the Year" awards. In track freshmen smashed school records and had a big turnout under first-year track coach Bob Sletten. Tennis proved to be good too, with Rick Patton returning to Kennedy to coach. In 1974 cross country took first place. Girls were part of the Titan swim team. G.A.A. girls are finally getting the support and recognition they deserve in their competitive sports under coaches Pat Miller, (head), Diane Coelho, Joy Cassady, and Debbie Schafer.

We started the season off right. Pre-season we won both of our games. Mt. Eden and San Leandro-we shut them out. From our first game to our last we were tough. We know we can do it. But things were just not going our way. With Fernelius as coach we know we can do it. He gave us strength and esteem. Our team has togetherness. We won't let each other down. You gave us a lot of support, which we really needed. We'll prove our capabilities to you.

The Ultimate- Frosh Undefeated For First Time

"The 1974 Frosh Football Team is the finest GROUP of individuals that I've ever had the opportunity to coach." Coach Masuda

Our season, long, our spirits high. We won every game we played. We thought of each other while playing. We have togetherness. Not one player could win a game. It took all of us. These thoughts and dedicated coaches like Van Deusen and Masuda who gave us spirit and taught us what we know are part of the reason why our season was so successful. That's why we are undefeated.

Freshmen Finish Season with 8-6 Record

For the first time in the history of John F. Kennedy High School, the varsity basketball team won the M.V.A.L. championship with a 12-2 record. Of the 12 wins 5 were by one point including an overtime game against Washington to provide a very exciting season. The mainstays of the team were Jack Vogel, the league's leading scorer and Eric Wittorff, who both won Prep of gthe Week awards. Forwards Mike Scott, Mike Frietas, Larry Edwards, and centers Chuck Steffeck and Mike Wayne contributed greatly along with John McLaughlin, Mike Jung, and Greg Stinson.

The 1974-75 edition of the Titan J.V.'s finished with 13 wins and 10 losses overall. Their league record was 8 wins and 6 losses, giving the Titans a fifth place finish in the league standings. With a team composed of one junior and the rest sophomores, the J.V.'s put together a record second only to the 1972-73 club, whose members can be found on this year's varsity.

One of the interesting aspects of this year's J.V. team was participation in the Fremont High (Sunnyvale) J.V. tournament. Although they lost all three games, the young Titans produced the leading tourney scorer in Jorge Alfaro with 601 points. Alfaro was a unanimous all-tourney selection.

The past— Seniors didn't use to seem as concerned about or interested in what they were going to do after high school as they are now. Many of us are more college as well as job oriented and we want to make something of our lives. Many

Many teachers, administrators, and students say that today's seniors are into humanitarian and environmental projects much more than our older brothers and sisters were. We are volunteering time and talent for programs which will save the environment for ourselves and for the future, and for on and off-campus activities like peer counseling, the Melissa Committee, and work with autistic children.

Former Homecoming Queens: Clockwise from < Pa Howard, 1969, Glenda Preston, queen, and Dianna ", 1972; Cheryl Nelson, 1973; Debbie Denham, Jones, queen, and Bev Combs, 1968.

more girls now want to go to college, get jobs, and have careers, as well as get married, instead of wanting to get married as soon as they are out of high school. One problem is that jobs are getting hard to find. This is due to the general bad economic situation, but also, according to Tom Martin, Outside Work Experience Coordinator, partly because people who want jobs still don't have saleable skills- a problem which the Regional Occupational Program and departmental vocational classes like Fundamental Skills are trying to solve. We are all realizing that we have to get ready to get what we want.

Underclassmen

The past—You're a spanking brand new Freshman in a strange new school. Confused by the modular scheduling system and the school's geography, you pretend that you know it all. At the moment you don't . . . and you wouldn't until four hard drugs. Alcohol among some groups was taken in like milk. But today the students with personal anxieties seek the help of peer counselors, their friends, and even themselves more than they used to. And alcohol . . . well, today it's taken like chocolate milk. Drug abuse still hands in the air, but there are others who involve themselves in human and environmental problems. The older underclassmen get, the most [illegible] interested they are in activities that help people. So [illegible] "awkward" stage, eh?

It's not much different now than it was ten years ago. We stand baffled, if not amazed, at the non-rigid way the school is run. And although freshmen have emerged fresh from Elementary/Junior High habit, they graduate four years later more mature than they were in Ninth Grade. One teacher called these four years an "awkward stage." Another person would call it "growing up."

Special attitudes have "grown up" too. Years ago students who couldn't look at problems in the eye copped out by using

Denise,

I've known you for eleven years. It's been great. I'm glad you are such a good friend. I'm also happy I was the first one to get you loaded. I opened your eyes to realization. (excuse the spelling). I really don't know what to say to someone that lives across the street. well party hardy (as J.B. would say.)

Dear

To my one and only babysitter cousin who I used to straight I do (HA!) what I do with next year and last year you'll be a senior!! no pressure mighty strange you'd think it was in your junior year to your last

Love your cousin

P.S. I'll be half straight Rebecca (who was that she was living with (HA!)

P.S. Don't forget to go to the graduation

Denise,

Well can you believe it. I'm finally signing your yearbook since I've [redacted] only been looking at it for 2 hours. Well I hope you have a nice SUMMER and try to stay straight once in awhile so you'll remember what it's like. We have had alot of good times together and I am sure we will have many more (like to night.) can you believe it we are going to be [redacted] seniors NEXT year. I hope I see you once in awhile because if you move to Hayward for sure I'll never see you - if I get a job and you get one, there just won't be time. well good luck with Frankie, Nat, Steve, and every body else although you don't need it. well I'll see you later and have fun this summer and be good - don't get [redacted] in to much trouble because I'll be watching and if I am, I'll probably be in the trouble too.

Mission: IMPOSSIBLE! Missions GREAT time for NAT! Missions 78 is great with Denise,

So what can I say? Ummmmm, I never knew you were the way you were. I always thought of you as my sweet straight cousin Well the surprise is on me! Right ha-ha!

Well have a super summer and when I mean super you know what I mean! We've really never been that close I guess because of our ages But now everythings Mello! maybe sometime this summer we could have some fun at the beach or Santa Cruz Boardwalk, frontier Villiage and all those terriffic places. Good luck with all the guys you ever meet in life. and Live it up! while you can! I kinda want to go to Kennedy but im stuck with Mission. well Kennedys not as bad as ever one at Mission says it is. Maybe one of these days you and Lenny! would you like that? Well I'll make the necessary arangments if you want cuz he thinks your okay! there's plenty of foxy guys at Kennedy to bad me & Lee couldnt get it together! But that picture in this year book,, of him oooo Well ooo! what can I say, "Give me a Brake."

Good luck with Franky? Brad! those guys seem Pretty nice! I HOPE LARRY calls me tonight!

Too Bad I wasnt Related to Mark Sanchez so that goes to your school.

Well good luck next year and the next and etc... NAT

Good luck always

Love always your (cuz) Michelle Sanchez '78"
